

MISC Prospers at National Awards

MISC's South West Centre at Bridgwater has won the coveted IMI Awards Approved Training Centre of the Year Award for 2009, beating off competition from 470 other centres.

The Award was made in recognition of their performance and proactive approach to the motor industry's training needs.

It is a richly deserved accolade and sincere congratulations from all at MISC go to Jason Kilduff (Section Leader – Automotive) and the team at Bridgwater.

Jason accompanied Andy Berry, Head of Arts and Technology, to the IMI HQ at Fanshaws on 17th June to receive the award from HRH Prince Michael of Kent.

Figure 1 HRH Prince Michael of Kent presents the IMI Awards Approved Centre of the Year Award 2009 to Jason Kilduff and Andy Berry

To continue a great day for MISC, our Cardiff Centre was also one of three nominated finalists for the Approved Centre of the Year Award.

Again, this is a hugely merited endorsement of the great work performed by Gary Evans, Bradley Tanner and their team at Coleg Glan Hafren in Cardiff. They will no doubt be looking to turn the tables on Bridgwater at next year's awards!

And finally.....

James Dyke, a student at Bridgwater, was a nominated finalist for the IMI Awards Outstanding Technical Student - Heavy Vehicle.

Congratulations to James for a splendid achievement.

All in all, with 2 of the 3 finalists and a high flying student, it was a great advert for the Motor Industry Skills Consortium.

For more information contact Andy Griffin on 0845 293 8058 or andygriffin@ukmisc.com